

ANNIE GET YOUR GUN - Buffalo Bill and Annie

BUFFALO BILL: You've got to help us.

ANNIE: Emergency! Oh you want me to pull that cord? (Turns to pull chord)

CHARLIE: Annie, please..

BUFFALO BILL: Listen. Pawnee Bill is opening against us in Minneapolis.

CHARLIE: He's trying to sign up Sitting Bull, the famous Sioux Warrior.

BUFFALO BILL: We gotta get an opposition flash! Now a woman who can shoot and look something like a lady is a novelty.

We want you to do that stunt on the motorbicycle.

ANNIE: Gosh, I cain't, I bin savin' that to surprise Frank with.

BUFFALO BILL: You can surprise him with it in Minneapolis.

ANNIE: You think he'd like that?

BUFFALO BILL: Sure! It's perfect. It's like a fairy tale. Here he thinks you're a moth-eatin little dame from the tall grass... he likes you a little. . .

ANNIE: He likes me a heap.

BUFFALO BILL: Has he ever asked you to marry him?

ANNIE: Not yit, he ain't broke out in a sweat cold enough to ask me that. I gotta git him, Charlie ... How kin I git him?

BUFFALO BILL: That's what I'm trying to tell you.. • you gotta dazzle him... Drive him crazy. When he sees you step out in front of an audience in a beautiful costume with lights and music and you do this trick you been savin' just for him. ..

ANNIE: He'll be so proud of me, he'll bust out in that cold sweat.

BUFFALO BILL: Sure that's it... Now we don't tell him a word about any-thing. Monday afternoon he'll be expecting you to shoot the egg off the poodle's head... but you don't do that. Instead you come out... do this trick on the motorbicycle, save the show and marry Frank!

ANNIE: Jes' like in a fairy tale! You sure he'll like it?

BUFFALO BILL: (To ANNIE, L.) He'll love it! Everybody likes surprises.
